

We will make a robot that sells better than a living manager

We will develop a virtual sales manager who can work with customers from the first call to receiving money.

Work on incoming requests or «cold calls»

The robot will process the incoming application in 1 second, qualify the lead, arrange a meeting, or send the proposal itself

Sending a proposal or information

The robot itself will send the materials to Messenger, check the receipt, and warm up the client several times during the week

Feedback and analyzing the information

The robot will ring everyone to whom the offer or proposal has been sent, and will lead to the next step or purchase

Send a link to pay

To everyone who agreed, the robot will send a payment link, or an invoice prepared in advance.

Work with refusals and objections

The robot itself will send the materials to Messenger, check the receipt, and warm up the client several times during the week.

CRM integration

The robot completely independently directs the leads through the funnel in CRM just like a living manager, filling in cards and making notes.
